Bedfordshire Archives & Records Service

Annual Report
2017/2018
Bedfordshire Archives & Records Service Annual Report, 2017/18

1. Introduction

Bedfordshire Archives & Records Service began in 1913 under Bedfordshire County Council. Since 1913 it has provided a public archives service and corporate records management for semi-current files for the county council and its successors - Luton Borough Council, Bedford Borough Council and Central Bedfordshire Council.

The service is hosted by Bedford Borough Council but serves the other two Bedfordshire unitary authorities under service level agreements.

2017/18 was a year where working with depositors and partner organisations was particularly important. Bedford Borough Council continued the transformation programme and senior officer roles within the council were restructured. Our service was moved from the Directorate of Governance and HR (Democratic and Registration Services) to the new Directorate of Customer (Customer Engagement and Digital). This was completed in October and we said goodbye to our former head of service, Keith Simmons, and hello to our new chief officer, Lee Phanco (right), on our 104\textsuperscript{th} birthday, marking the occasion with cake.
2. Finance

As a shared service our funding is drawn from all three unitary authorities of Bedfordshire based on population. The expenditure shown for 2016/17 does not include capital funds for map storage (see 3. below) or consultancy fees for development of software required as part of a corporate roll out of an electronic document management system, which were borne by Bedford Borough Council. 2018/19 is a standstill budget but staff restructuring during the year may see changes to the budget forecast as the year progresses.

3. Staff

We said goodbye to: Vicki Manners, our conservator, who now works for the Panacea Museum and Ann Jones, who moved to take up a new position within Bedford Borough Council dealing with the implementation of the new Data Protection Regulations.

We welcomed: Carol Walden and Beata Zyzanska on short-term cataloguing contracts made possible by external funding. We also congratulated archivist Rachel Bates on the birth of her son, Joshua.

We provided staff with in-house training and development opportunities. We were particularly grateful to the curators at Woburn Abbey and at Wardown Park, Luton for facilitating group visits by our staff. Both visits gave our staff a better understanding of how our work fits into the work of the other organisations. At Woburn we saw how documents that are usually in our care had been used by the curators in the Woburn Abbey summer exhibition and at Wardown we discussed the complementary strengths and specialisms of our services. Staff came away inspired with new ideas and with a better understanding of how the organisations could work together in the future. The service manager and one of the records managers attended a training day on children’s records run by Gloucestershire County Council.

Work Experience and Volunteers

Six students gained short-term work experience in the service, exploring archives as a career choice. One university student spent two days a week with us over her summer vacation and was of great assistance in the cataloguing of additional material from the Bedfordshire Federation of Women’s Institutes.

Over the year 22 volunteers worked on a variety of projects for us, including:

- Cataloguing the Chrystal postcard collection (Z1306), George Kent (GKL), and Franklin, Deacon & Briars (FDB)
- Data entry into our online database of Bedford Gaol registers.
- Cleaning and repackaging.
- Numbering, checking and cataloguing the marriage licence bonds and allegations collection, (ABM).
- Identifying and cataloguing photographs to be added to our Z50 series.
- Creating a listing to assist with subject access requests to early adoption records

Thanks are due to all our volunteers and placements for their work during the year giving us approximately 3,200 hours of their free time.
4. Accommodation

The Service occupies two floors of the Riverside Building Borough Hall, designed in the mid 1960s and our home since May 1969.

Accommodation remains our biggest challenge and this was recognised in the key findings and required actions of the Archive Service Accreditation panel.

‘Recent investment in the building has improved the storage conditions in the repository area, but storage capacity remains an issue for the archive service, particularly for ongoing collections development and satisfactory care of all collections held at Bedfordshire Archive Service.

Any redesign of the public facing and back office accommodation is limited by the nature of the building. Current accommodation is adequate in space but awkward in layout, which will pose challenges for the archive service in terms of ongoing development of on site services.

There was no change to our accommodation during 2017/18.

Bedford Borough Council’s new Chief Officer for Economic Growth and Property visited the service and was made aware of the accommodation issues.
5. Collections

Cataloguing

Regular staff and volunteers catalogued 6,620 documents in 107 different collections. In addition to this temporary staff were employed to work on two other cataloguing projects.

The first project was funded by the owner and depositor of the collection and has enabled the cataloguing of 2,422 architectural drawings from Sir Albert Richardson’s Ampthill office (RGH6). The second project used funding from the Bedfordshire Family History Society to begin creating a brief online catalogue of our wills collection (ABP/W). By the end of the year 5,142 wills had been catalogued. Both projects have already proved extremely useful and we are grateful for the support, which made them possible.

We continue to catalogue and index material to international standard; catalogues appear immediately on our online public access catalogue http://bedsarchivescat.bedford.gov.uk

Conservation

930 items were dealt with during the year. During the first half of the year our conservator was busy preparing for her Archives & Records Association Conservation Training Scheme final assessment. Unfortunately for us, following her successful assessment, Vicki received an offer of employment elsewhere and left our service. We have so far been unable to recruit another conservator to the post and while it is vacant we have been particularly thankful for the assistance of our two conservation volunteers who have managed to keep on top of the day-to-day need for custom made folders and boxes and helped with the mounting of our exhibitions.

The reader support officer on document production continued the repackaging programme as part of their background tasks. This has led to the review of some uncatalogued collections, which has either resulted in them being: catalogued, prioritised for cataloguing, weeded or deaccessioned.

Digitisation

In April the registers of electors 1832-1986, the first of our collections to be licensed to Ancestry, went online. This was followed in August by the land tax, valuation and petty session records. The last of the licensed collections, poor law records, are being indexed by volunteers via Ancestry’s World Archive Project https://www.ancestry.co.uk/community/awap. This project is currently 32% complete; the records will go online once indexing has been completed. Ancestry can be accessed for free at our office and in the libraries of Bedford Borough and Central Bedfordshire.
6. Public Access

Visitor numbers were slightly higher than the previous year – 1,507, against 1,485 visitors in 2016/17. The number of documents retrieved from the stacks was 12,579.

![Pie chart showing visitor numbers]

The system for visitor bookings has settled down. Booking enables us to manage our resources better, provide a personal and well prepared service for the visitor and keep visitors informed of any issues that may affect their visit or research. We hope to introduce online booking in the future as part of Bedford Borough Council’s digital operating model.

Staff answered 1,151 enquiries that required detailed advice or research. 96% were answered within two working days of receipt. Our target is 95% within 2 working days. We introduced an online enquiry form early in 2107/18.

![Pie chart showing subject of research]

We seek and listen to people’s views and monitor and respond to feedback. This year we received 5 pieces of negative feedback. 2 related to problems that had arisen from old and inaccurate catalogue entries. The entries were amended and the customers were happy with the result. 2 related to service publicity. Luton Borough Council objected to the heading ‘Bedford Archives’ used by the editor of Bedfordshire Midweek. We were able to tell Luton that we had already put in a complaint to the editor. One of our volunteers felt that her work had been misrepresented in one of our newsletter articles. Steps were taken to amend the wording on the online edition. One customer objected to our reproduction fees.

We received many positive comments including one on behalf of a family where ‘the thorough report has helped us to clear up an age old mystery and we can now pay our respects to our sadly departed grandparents and add to the family tree the documentation provided.’

In the autumn we took part in a national survey of remote users. The results were published in early 2018. At 85% our overall rating of ‘very good’ was higher than the national average of 77%. We scored above average for quality of content, clarity and promptness but were in line with the national average with regard to satisfaction with charges. A greater proportion heard about our service from our website than the national average (78% compared with 58%) and we did better than average on website navigation. The proportion of enquirers for whom this was the first time they had contacted us was particularly high 84% against the average of 68%. These results indicate that our remote enquiry service draws new people to the service and is valued by users, particularly those who are unable to visit us in person.
On-line presence

The number of page views of our website totalled 183,028. Our online catalogue had 321,050 views. Our resources on Ancestry had 532,869 views and the gaol database, which can be accessed via Ancestry, received 35,594 views.

We have:

- Our website, of general information, guides to sources, on-line newsletters, exhibitions and our community archives pages.
- Our programme of adding detailed local material to the website this year added information for: Brickhill, Brogborough, Cainhoe, Clapham, Clophill, Everton, Flitwick, Goldington, Ion, Leighton Buzzard, Lower Gravenhurst, Upper Gravenhurst and Roxton. Further pages were added for Luton. Volunteers have compiled information on: Little Staughton, Carlton and Tebworth. We hope to recruit more volunteers in the coming year to help us continue adding to the information available on places throughout the county.
- Our online public access catalogue. At the end of the year 94.2% of our catalogues were available online.
- Twitter @BedsArchives. This is used to highlight events and developments and has enabled informal first contact, which we have then been able to build on more formally.
- YouTube Channel BedfordshireArchives. We launched this channel to enable people to interact with our centenary exhibitions and have added videos to help people understand our work and some relevant for people thinking of visiting the service.
- Facebook page. This is another way of highlighting events and developments within the service. It has been good to receive positive feedback on the service via our social media.
- Input to our database of 19th century gaol registers has continued however, due to technical difficulties the website has not updated automatically. It is hoped that all this year’s entries will be uploaded in April 2018.
- World War One commemorative blogs and Twitter feed telling stories of life on the home and service fronts.

Outreach

Staff gave 10 talks to external groups with a total attendance of 540. In the spring of 2018 we ran a series of three talks at Ampthill library and family and local history sources workshops at Biggleswade and Leighton Buzzard libraries in Central Bedfordshire. The talks were a combination of talks previously given at other venues and new talks.

2 groups visited the office for training sessions either to help group members use the archive service for research projects or prepare their group’s archives for transfer to Bedfordshire Archives Service.

We mounted three exhibitions on our 2017 theme Thinking of You. In April – June we looked at Thinking of You: Remembering Then, this was followed by Thinking of You in Time of Need, and finally Thinking of You All Equally, which considered how attitudes have changed over time. Our theme for 2018 is #Vote100 including a look at electoral reform and a celebration of women. The first exhibition from January to March looked at changes to the franchise in the centuries before 1918.

Items from our collections were lent to The Higgins, Bedford for their exhibitions of Bedford Choral Society, the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Shorts works at Cardington and Celebrating Women of Bedfordshire. We also supplied exhibition panels on Refugees in Bedfordshire.

In September we participated in Heritage Open Days running tours of the archives service and exhibiting alongside the Higgins in the council suite at Borough Hall. Woburn Abbey used some documents from the Russell collection usually held by us in their summer exhibition on the redecorations of the state rooms. The curators uncovered new information while researching the documents in our holdings enabling them to correct misconceptions about when the rooms had been furnished.

As part of the Heritage Bedford group we took part in the Bedford High Street Showcase day in June, Love Bedford Day in early July, and the Harpur Trust’s Have a Go Day in September.

We worked with Carers in Beds on a scrapbook project for people suffering from dementia. There were further displays of work from the Weaving Narratives and Carers in Beds projects of 2016/17 at Bedford Hospital and Bedford Central Library.

Visits were made to 10 schools in some cases to run sessions with multiple classes and year groups. More than 25 education resource packs were supplied to 10 different schools.

We have had a regular spot in the new Bedfordshire wide free newspaper Bedfordshire Midweek and this has produced some interesting and useful feedback particularly in the identification of pictures from the collection of Bedfordshire on Sunday (the forerunner of Bedfordshire Midweek).
7. Records Management & Deeds Registry

The Records Management team work for the internal departments of the three funding authorities. They receive consignments of paper records no longer needed on a regular basis by the creating department then manage the storage, retrieval, and when appropriate the transfer or destruction of these internal records.

This year the team have made progress in securely destroying files that have reached the end of their retention period. Not keeping files longer than necessary is important good records management practice but is carefully controlled and is carried out in liaison with the creator department. 2,304 boxes were securely destroyed during year. Some records are transferred to the archives at the end of their retention period.

The number of boxes received totalled 1,649: Bedford Borough Council: 750; Central Beds Council: 380; Luton Borough Council: 448; shared: 71.

The number of files requested back by departments totalled 979; 618 relating to Bedford Borough Council holdings, 245 Central Beds Council, 102 Luton Borough Council, 14 Shared services.

The team has also worked hard in clearing storage areas of Borough Hall to ensure that all semi-current records are included in the records management system.

The service runs a deeds registry of title deeds, agreements, leases etc. for Bedford Borough Council and Central Bedfordshire Council. During 2017/18 707 items were accessioned for Bedford and 1,196 for Central. 1,555 deed packets and files were requested back by departments during the year (65% related to Bedford Borough).
