Fine vijs vjd [7s 6d] amercements vjd [6d]

They present that they give vijs vjd [7s 6d] as common fine this [day]. And that the Prior ^{iiij^d [4d]} of Newnham and Thomas ^{ij^d [2d]} Maryon made default and therefore were at mercy to the lord. And that John Gostwyk has one ditch not draining, causing nuisance, therefore he is at mercy of the lord. And he is ordered to put it right before the feast of the Nativity of the Lord [Christmas Day, December 25th] under a penalty of xld [40d]. And that the same John has branches growing and hanging above the common way below his tenement. Therefore he is at mercy. And that Robert Partrych has branches growing over the common way next to the Rabbit Warren. Therefore he is at mercy and they were ordered to put them right before the next [court] under a penalty of xijd [12d]. And that the Lord's tenants should repair and put right the branches growing and hanging over the common way next to the Rabbit Warren. And that the Vicar should enclose the Glesedrip' between the Vicarage and the lord's holding in which John Clerk lives. And he was ordered to put it right before the next under a penalty of xld [40d].

Also they present that the malt kiln in John Redy's holding has not been repaired because of the neglect of William Launcelyn. One plea is with the aforesaid William.

And that the tenement held by John Clerk, that the lord ordered him to repair, is ruined and lies in the hand of the lord.

And that the holding called The Legge was ruined and made totally devastated and he is dead, and it has lain in the hand of the lord for a long time. And now it is demised to John Morborn as put above in the last preceding Court, and the lord's tenant should repair it. Therefore the bailiff was ordered to provide for putting right the said tenement.

And that John Stones has a ruined malt-kiln and the lord obliges him to repair it. Therefore etc. And that Robert Partrych is obliged to repair the tenement in which he lately lived. Therefore the bailiff was ordered to take possession of all the goods and chattels of the said Robert being within the demesne to provide sufficient security for him to make suitable repairs.

Also they present that John Yarwey the younger has a barn, needing large timbers and wattling. Therefore the bailiff was ordered to allow him timber for making spars and also half an acre of underwood. And that John Yarwey the elder has a ruined malt-kiln and the bailiff was ordered to allow him one rood of underwood for Winding and Wattling of the same.

And they present that Randolph Bawdewyn has walls [which are] fallen down and broken because of his neglect. Therefore he was ordered to put them right before the next under a penalty of xld [40d]. And he asked for one foundation beam and the bailiff was ordered to hand it over.

Amercement iijd [3d] forfeited ijd [2d]

John Taylour and Randolph Bawdewyn, the Constables, present that Robert ^{iiij [3d]} Partrych assaulted John Taylour against the peace with a dagger valued at ijd [2d] and it remains in the bailiff's keeping and the bailiff is answerable for it to the lord.

To this View came William Starlyng and surrendered one Messuage and x [10] acres of land into the hand of the lord, from which he was accustomed to render xiiij [14s] a year to the lord, before the next feast of Saint Michael the archangel next in the future. [before September 29th. 1455?] And it was taken by the bailiff and the said tenement should all be well and competently repaired. Therefore the bailiff was ordered to provide for the said holding and no herriot, and the said holding was taken by the bailiff outside the court and without a copy.

Amercement xvjd [16d] amercement xvijd [17d]

John Yarwey, John Gostewyk, ale tasters there, present that Alice ^{vjd [6d]} Stoughton brewed constantly and broke the assize of ale, John ^{vjd [6d]} Redy constantly, Robert ^{iiij [4d]} Cook iij [3] times. One brewing by the vicar ^{xijd [12d]}. And that John ^{iiij [3d]} Redy has not brewed sufficiently so that the tenants will lack ale and that Alicia ^{ijd [2d]} Stoughton did not wish to have a shortage of ale under the new brewings. Therefore they were at mercy to the lord.

John Flaunder' and Robert Cook were elected as Constables and took the oath.
John Cook and John Myton were elected as tasters of ale and took the oath.
